

PCflex Case Study

Project: Temporary Modular Custody Suite
Police Authority: Warwickshire Police
Location: Rugby Police Station
Date: November 2009

An eight cell relocatable custody suite hired to Warwickshire Police for use at Rugby police station whilst the existing custody suite is undergoing major refurbishment. The PCflex building is located above an underground car park deck immediately behind the police station and provides charge, process and interview facilities, along with eight cells each fitted with CCTV.

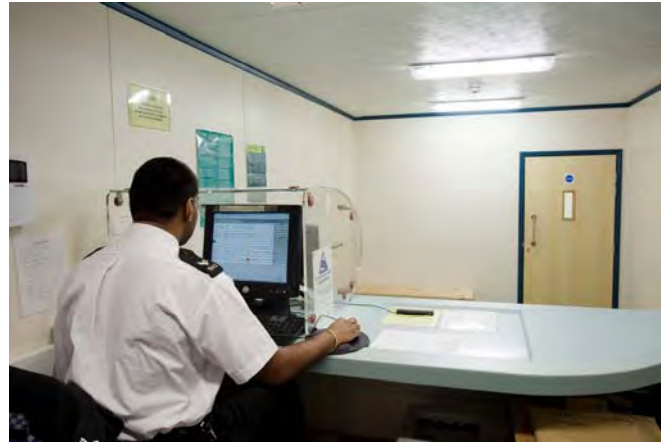

The temporary custody suite is located above an underground car park, requiring steel support beams to spread the load of the building through the columns of the basement below.

“Wernick’s PCflex system has provided us with a modern temporary custody facility, which is significantly better than we had in the existing building. It is bright and airy and fitted out to a very high specification with CCTV in every cell”

Jim Langley Property Services, Warwickshire Police

The elevated booking-in area complete with CCTV and cell call monitoring stations provides a clear view of the charge floor and supporting rooms.

The supporting rooms include a report writing office, staff toilets, detainee shower, detainee kitchen, store rooms, two interview rooms, Livescan, Intoximeter, medical and image capture facilities.

The 2.1 metre wide cell corridor is bright and airy. Each cell is fitted with CCTV, the latest specification cell door including three position hatch and the unique PCflex corner WC pan
